Let Kids Rule the Playground
Let kids rule the playground

Opinion

JUNE 2021

PLAYING IS LEARNING

The experts tell us children learn best when they are playing. But do they know what they are doing?

Rick Tomlinson

There's one resource that's perfect for the classroom.

Calling all Victorian teachers!

What goes on outside in the playground is important as what goes on in the classroom.

Letter to the Editor

The needs of children in education are changing. The education system needs to respond to these changes.

Peter Smith

Editor's note: The editorial team welcomes letters from readers. Letters should be sent to editor@education.theage.com.au with "LETTER" and your full name and address as subject and body. Letters should not exceed 400 words. This section is editorially separate from our news content.